

K-12 literacy is an education system that describes the objectives for capability competence and skills of the students while incorporating specific programs and practices (Taylor & Gunter, 2005). The system requires the educators to evaluate the effectiveness and the responsibility of all the stakeholders and report to the parents and the entire community. In the recent past there have been emerging issues that have lead to controversy and confusion to all the stakeholders concerning the implementation of the k-12 system (Taylor & Gunter, 2005).
